Brooks and Jenkins are making a barn cellar for F. Verrill in Greenwood.

Horton Brothers have purchased Allison Gerry's farm.

Horton has gone to Roxbury, Me. to work for Mr. Stevens this summer.

There was a good attendance at the temperance meeting June 28th. Some were disappointed because speakers from the village were not present. We hope to see them next time.

Locke's Mills.

Our village school is being taught by Miss Blanche Abbott of Rindford.

Mrs. W. R. Swift is still suffering from the effects of rheumatic fever.

Mrs. A. L. Ross is very sick.

The farmers in this vicinity are planting seed for a large crop of potatoes. Last season E. L. Rand & Co. with C. V. Martin shipped to Boston market over 14,000 bushels. The same firm has disposed of 63 tons of Bradley's Fertilizer the past spring, about 15 tons of Cumberland, besides some Pacific Guano.

Jesse F. Libby has moved back to this place. He has been in the employ of the G. T. R. at Portland.

Rev. G. B. Mansford preaches at Currier's Hall Sunday next at 10:15 a. m. All are invited.

Sweden.

The farm work went on this year with unusual expedition and alacrity on account of the coolness of the weather and dryness of the ground, all believing the much needed rain and warm weather would come in good time. And now the timely and refreshing rain has come, the woods and fields look so beautiful in their mantle of green and everything in nature is so lively that all our people appear truly grateful.

The most of our sick ones are either a little better or more comfortable, much rejoicing the hearts of many who only a short time ago were sad and despondent. The loss to us of our last week departed at times brings sadness to our minds, but we can all rejoice that the long dreary winter is past and the chilling winds laden with pneumonia and neuritis have ceased.

Mrs. Elvira Stevens, whose recovery two weeks ago appeared doubtful is better, and although very weak and emaciated it is confidently believed she will perfectly recover.

Miss Nancie Locklin does not appear to have lost in strength for the last two weeks, but otherwise her symptoms are no better.

Lawrence Knight, the man had now at the steam mill, has been sick more than a week and the mill has not been running.

The many friends of Mr. Lewis Frost will be happy to learn that his health is improving.

Mr. Elbridge Stone has sold his horse we understand for two hundred and twenty-five dollars.

Mr. M. H. Hamlin has got tired of going on foot and bought him a horse.

BOLSTERS MILLS.

The late rains have given vegetation a fresh start, and grass is looking fine. Some farmers have had wheat in a little late to get planting, but hope to be in season to get a good crop in autumn.

Weston & Edwards are still running their mill day and night, and are cutting up their lumber as fast as possible.

Olando Brown recently moved his family from Otisfield to Elk River, Minn., and on the way there his wife and children caught the measles, and about two weeks after reaching their home Mrs. Brown died, and one child was not expected to live when the last report from them was received. Mr. Brown was a soldier in the late war.

Mr. Fisher, who has spent several years in this vicinity, has gone to Mass. to visit his brother, who is quite aged and very feeble.

Ansel F. Brooks of Otisfield recently had a cancer removed from his face.

At the Union Memorial Service at the M. E. Church in Bridgton, on Sunday, May 27th, Rev. A. R. Sylvester delivered a very able memorial address full of pure and lofty patriotism. The address was listened to with pleasure and is highly commended by all who heard it. Mr. S. was a soldier in the civil war, and his personal experience gave increased power to his words.

Memorial Day was appropriately observed in the towns in this vicinity.

Now that the Fourth is coming, would it not be a good idea to get ready for it in season? How much better it is to stay at home and enjoy yourself than to drag one's weary body to the hot and dusty city.

Dr. French of Lovell, caught six hundred trout in an East Stoneham brook last Saturday.

Our sidewalk on Front St. has been repaired.

H. O. Blake has a good force pump. This seems to be a kind of a fish week with us. Welchville and Oxford fished forces and went to Rangeley last week. Everett Chubbuck heads the list with a four pounder.

W. F. Hutchinson tells us he has discovered a mineral spring of wonderful virtue near Maguire's Island.

Conner, blacksmith, has sold out to Matt McKee, and gone to Bridgton.

LITTLE LAKE.

We are having excellent weather and grass and grain are just rushing in growth. To all appearance the apple crop will be better this year as but few trees are budded to blossom.

J. H. Hutchins and P. O. Howard are peeling poplar on the river bank where they hauled last winter.

M. H. Howard, while peeling-poplar asked his father for the share which was his under the will of the late H. O. Foster, and he hit on the bones, glanced around cutting a gasp in Mac's shall's leg just above the instep, partly severing the cord. It is healing well.

The next day J. H. Hutchins got a log rolled on his arm, jamming it quite badly.

Communication.

Died at Bryant's Pond, May 15th, of diphtheria, Gay Glendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Colby Allen, formerly of Norway, aged six years, two months and fifteen days.

It was my privilege, only a few weeks previous to the fatal sickness of this beautiful boy, to meet him on our street, and to be attracted, as I was, by his sprightfulness and pleasant countenance, I spoke to him, as I am accustomed to, and finding him social and very agreeable, I took the liberty of saying to him, "How old are you?"

"Six years, two months and fifteen days," he replied, and without any hesitation, he informed me, that he was Colby Allen's boy. Ah, said I, then I shall know you hereafter, as I am well acquainted with your father and mother. I thought of him many times, and was pleased to know, that my friends had so lovely a boy. Days passed, and on inquiry I learned that his father had gone West to go into business, expecting his family soon to join him in the West. But alas! how liable we are to disappointment! As I was passing the street only a little time after, I heard to my sorrow, that Gay was attacked with that fearful disease (diphtheria) and had been prevailing to some extent in our village, and soon after, that the doctor said there was no chance for him to recover. Several physicians were called, but they all were unavailing. He was sent to "The Higher School," and so passed to that state, where he will no longer need the poor protection and guidance of mortals, "where Christ himself doth rule." The news of his death was a great grief to his mother and father, and to all who loved him. He was a very good boy, and his death was a great loss to his family and to our village.

"I shall commence next week shoeing light horses for the old price, $1.00 each, and team horses as low in proportion. Interfering and over reaching horses will be shod to good clear. I keep a stock of shoes fitted ready to use light and heavy, also light steel shoes. I have shod a good experienced workman, and having had 20 years experience in the business, I feel confident that I can suit any that may have a trial. A small display of carriage jobbing done at short notice."
